College Corner University of Bridgeport (Bridgeport, CT)

The University of Bridgeport is a mid-sized, private university, in the seaside town of Bridgeport, Connecticut. UB prides itself on having a diverse student and faculty body from more than 45 states and 80 countries, which ranks the school 17th in the region for most ethnically diverse study body. It is located on the scenic Long Island Sound, just an hour from New York City. Students studying at UB can choose from more than 125 majors that include engineering, business, education, nursing, fine arts, and much more. Studying abroad is highly encouraged at UB as students come back with the necessary skills to succeed in today's globalized job market. Additionally, students have benefited from more competitive applications for graduate school and higher starting salaries. UB also provides tremendous support in and out of the classroom. In addition to a challenging honors program, the school also offers a variety of academic support services, counseling services, and career services. The University of Bridgeport is an optimal location for learning and the right size to get a personalized experience. If you decide to join the UB community, be sure to join in the tradition and take "the plunge" in the Long Island sound on convocation day to kick off the beginning of the school year.
