President's Corner

Dear friends,

As we move into 2021, many of us feel a sense of hope in spite of the challenges we still face. As a community, we have overcome disappointments and then marveled at our resilience and perseverance. 2020 tested us for sure; there were losses and setbacks, but as we look back, the year also showed us our strength. At IHA, getting back to normal means getting better, getting stronger, and getting more confident in our ability to deal with difficulties. Our confidence is based on our faith in an all-loving God who “holds us in the palm of His hand.”

The Class of 2021 will complete their IHA education with the knowledge that a loving and supportive community enabled their growth and assured their competence through a truly excellent Catholic education. Our juniors, sophomores, and freshmen have benefitted from the outstanding example of the senior class...their “big sisters” showed them the way.

As spring approaches, the season of new growth, of new life, we are hopeful. The ease with which our students adapted to the adjustments needed in the school day assures us that we will be able to provide a quality educational experience for our students.

We send our heartfelt thanks to all those who have worked so hard during these past few months. Our administrators, faculty, staff, parents, and especially our students have made these past months a joy, in spite of the clear challenges.

With my best wishes for a healthy and happy new year, may God bless you and your loved ones.

Sincerely,

IHA Reopens Safely with Hybrid Model of Instruction

After months of careful and diligent planning by Immaculate Heart Academy's Reopening Committee and administration, IHA officially reopened campus to students on September 9, 2020. Our comprehensive reopening plan was created to keep with the mission of the school while providing students and staff the safest and healthiest environment possible.

Blathnat Cannon'21 retrieves a paper towel at the beginning of class to wipe down her desk.

Students work diligently on their MacBooks behind their desk shields.

The hybrid model of in-person and virtual instruction introduced a three-cohort, rotational schedule that permits approximately two-thirds of the student body to be on campus each day for in-person instruction. Students in the rotating at-home cohort are required to sign into their classes virtually via Zoom, following along in real time. Additionally, families were able to opt-in to an all-remote cohort where students follow their full class schedule via Zoom. This gives students who are working/studying from home the ability to remain engaged with their teachers and classmates and stay current on all schoolwork while reducing their potential exposure to COVID-19.

There have been many upgrades, additions, and changes to our campus to allow staff, students, and families to

“ So much hard work went into IHA’s reopening and that hard work continued as we navigated the past few months of school. Our students have been very cooperative and compliant with all the new procedures, and I believe it’s because they really want to be back at IHA. We are truly blessed to have community members who take seriously the health and safety of themselves and others. ” — Mr. Jason Schlereth, principal feel as safe as possible and to reduce the impact of COVID-19 conditions. One of the most impressive upgrades is the installation of a Bipolar Needlepoint Ionization Air Purification system in each classroom ventilator unit, as well as in central HVAC units for larger common areas. After extensive research on various systems that can provide a safer environment at IHA, this system was installed over the summer. Bipolar ionization kills viruses, including COVID-19, that are spread through droplets from coughing and sneezing, as well as the germs that live on surfaces where an infected person has made contact. It is incredibly effective in removing particulate matter from the circulating air.

Additionally, students' and staff members' temperatures are checked every morning at all assigned entry points and anyone with a temperature at or above 100.4°F is not permitted into the building. Everyone on IHA's campus is required to wear face masks at all times and face shields can be worn as additional protection. Students' desks are spaced six feet apart in socially distant rows, and all teacher desks are equipped with plexiglass shields. Students travel with personal desk shields throughout the day that are then left in their last period class every day for disinfection.

Every classroom and entry point is equipped with a touchless hand sanitizer dispenser. Custodians disinfect high-touch areas numerous times throughout the day and perform a more intense disinfecting routine every afternoon. As students enter the classroom for each class, teachers spray disinfectant on the students' desks and chairs. Students are required to wipe their desk and chair with a paper towel from a wall dispenser, and then use hand sanitizer before sitting down. Additionally, hallways and stairwells are one-directional; floor markings and signage indicate traffic flow. Homeroom, locker break, and lunch have been eliminated from the schedule, allowing for a shortened school day that concludes at 12:45 p.m. Within the six-day rotating schedule, there is a 10-minute break daily at the end of Period 5 when students and teachers may remove their masks to eat a snack brought in from home. They must remain in their seats and behind their desk shields while eating. Students are not permitted to congregate in hallways, stairwells, or at lockers at any time throughout the day.

All families were required to sign and return Immaculate Heart Academy's Social Contract before the start of school.

Students travel from class to class with personal desk shields that are disinfected at the end of every school day. Everyone on IHA's campus must be wearing face masks at all times.

“ IHA has done a wonderful job to ensure we returned to school safely and I am so happy that we had a successful return. Although things may be different this year, being in school and seeing my friends and teachers brings a sense of normalcy back into my life! ” — Mia Grossman'21

Students participate in a hybrid learning model on a rotating schedule, with two cohorts learning in-person and one cohort logging in from home. Families could also choose the all-remote option for the semester.

Additionally, parents/guardians view a questionnaire every weekday morning and must notify the office and keep their daughter home if there is an affirmative answer to any of the COVID-19 symptom-related questions. The overall feeling on campus is that Fall 2020 at Immaculate Heart went exceptionally well. The resilient young women that make up IHA's study body and the dedicated administration, faculty, and staff members continue to adjust as needed.

"I am so incredibly grateful for the flexibility, understanding, and adaptability our students and staff have shown as we reopened our campus," said Mr. Jason Schlereth, principal. "So much hard work went into IHA's reopening and that hard work continued as we navigated the past few months of school. Our students have been very cooperative and compliant with all the new procedures, and I believe it's because they really want to be back at IHA. We are truly blessed to have community members who take seriously the health and safety of themselves and others."

Mia Grossman'21, Student Council president, said she feels very fortunate to be able to attend her last year of high school in-person so far. "IHA has done a wonderful job to ensure we returned to school safely and I am so happy that we had a successful return," she said. "Although things may be different this year, being in school and seeing my friends and teachers brings a sense of normalcy back into my life!"

Members of the faculty and staff have also been thrilled to be teaching in-person, even with the challenges of teaching virtually at the same time. "I can't tell you how happy I am to be back in the classroom!" said Mrs. Helen DeMartini P'21, '23, science teacher. "I have been so impressed with the way the girls have handled themselves during this unique start to the school year. I know it's not always easy, but I feel very lucky that we are able to be together safely."

Students work behind their desk shields at work stations spaced six feet apart.

IHA Presents Almost, Maine as 2020 Fall Drama

The show must go on...and IHA's fall drama did just that! Despite the challenging circumstances presented by COVID-19, cast and crew members from IHA and St. Joseph Regional High School, along with the production and directorial teams, endured to deliver a beautiful rendition of Almost, Maine on November 13 and 14, 2020. Socially distanced and masked audience members enjoyed two performances of the drama that explores love and loss in a remote and mythical almost-town.

Inaugural Outdoor Family Mass

Two Seniors Fully Initiated into the Catholic Church

Hundreds of IHA community members joined together in a bit of an untraditional way to celebrate the 2020 Opening Family Mass. On the evening of Saturday, September 19, 2020, two hundred cars gathered in the IHA parking lot for the school's first-ever outdoor Family Mass. Attendees had the choice to listen to the beautiful liturgy, celebrated by Fr. John Aherne, OFM and Deacon Marc Mackin, through their car radios or via loud speakers set up outside. The Mass was projected live on a jumbo screen kindly provided by Demarest Farms, Hillsdale.

This was a particularly special celebration, as Hannah Specthrie'21 and Julia Whitney'21, two seniors and RCIA candidates at St. Mary's Parish, Pompton Lakes, were fully initiated into the Catholic Church during the liturgy. Hannah and Julia, who had been catechumens, were originally scheduled to be initiated at the 2020 Easter Vigil, which was unfortunately cancelled due to COVID-19. At the IHA Family Mass, they received the sacraments of baptism, confirmation, and first Eucharist, surrounded by their sponsors, families, and the IHA community. Hannah's sponsor was Ms. Allison Oblen, IHA religious studies teacher, and Julia's sponsor was her grandmother, Mrs. Rita Whitney GP'21.

Thank you to everyone who brought our 2020 Family Mass to life, especially members of the IHA administration; Mrs. Sarah Shutrop, director of formation; Kaylee McKay'21, lector; and Aniela Sanders'22, cantor. Mrs. Shutrop said she is thrilled that IHA was able to innovatively make the Family Mass work.

“Even though this year may have looked different, our Family Mass was an important reminder that, even in the midst of adversity, IHA is who it claims to be—a Catholic community forming young women to see themselves as God sees them,” Mrs. Shutrop said. “Our legacy echoed through the IHA parking lot that Saturday night, and I’m so grateful that we were able to be back together safely worshipping as a community of faith. It was a perfect commissioning for the start of what continuously proves to be a unique school year.”

The entire IHA community congratulates Julia and Hannah and thanks them for their witness of faith in action to the rest of the IHA sisterhood. Thank you to all those who safely attended and celebrated in a way that reminded the IHA community how good it feels to be together.

Mrs. Victoria Cecilione Retires

IHA Welcomes Three New Staff Members This Fall

This December, Mrs. Victoria Cecilione P'05 officially retired as director of business after more than twenty-one years of dedicated service to Immaculate Heart Academy. Vicky began working in the Business Office in August of 1999, and she quickly became known among her colleagues as a devoted worker, a caring friend, and a kindhearted woman, wife, and mother.

"When I think of Vicky, I cannot imagine a person more generous, kind, and competent," said Ms. Patricia Molloy, IHA president. "She is the personification of patience, gentleness, and professionalism. Vicky is truly one in a million and I will miss her warm smile. I pray that she enjoys a wonderful retirement and much happiness."

Vicky is excited to enjoy more time with her family including her husband, Rich; her son and daughter-in-law, Ricky and Jillian; her daughter and son-in-law, Kathryn Cecilione Pennacchio'05 and Scott; her grandson, James, and his little brother who is on the way.

"After 21 wonderful years at IHA, I am looking forward to retirement and to spending more time with my family, especially my grandchildren," Vicky said. "I am grateful to everyone who has helped make my career so rewarding, and I will always cherish the friendships I've forged along the way. I wish all of the IHA students, parents, faculty and staff great success and good health in the future. I will miss you all."

Mrs. Kitty Kelly P'95, former IHA guidance secretary and long-time friend of Vicky, noted that this is truly a loss for IHA and she will be missed by all. "I enjoyed my many years working with Vicky, sharing our lunchtime," said Kitty. "I have always admired her patience and professionalism when interacting with parents and members of the IHA community. She is one of the kindest and most thoughtful people I know and I'm honored to call her my friend. We have enjoyed celebrating many family milestones together and look forward to many more in the future."

Mrs. Kitty Kelly P'95 FF; Mrs. Kathy Hals FF, standing; Mrs. Victoria Cecilione P'05, retiring director of business; and Mrs. Brenda Coppola P'09, comptroller, at IHA's end-of-the-year faculty and staff luncheon in 2019.

Mrs. Brenda Coppola P'09, IHA comptroller, said it's been an absolute joy to work with Vicky. "Integrity and hard work are ideals Vicky constantly promotes," Brenda said. "Her demeanor at work is always professional and she is kind, thoughtful, funny, and always willing to offer a helping hand. All of these qualities have made a lasting impression on both the IHA community and me personally. It's no wonder that, besides being a colleague, many of us call her our friend."

As one mainstay leaves Immaculate Heart, we are happy to extend a warm welcome to three new staff members. This fall, we welcomed our new director of business, Ms. Danielle Buldo Molta'91 (B.A., M.B.A., Pace University); Ms. Sarah Hill'07 (B.A., University of Scranton), director of development; and Mrs. Marie Heinimann P'24, main office staff member.

More than Fifty Underclassmen Inducted into St. Brigid Society

The St. Brigid Society exists to recognize and promote academically gifted freshman and sophomore students. It seeks to foster continuous academic excellence by providing engaging opportunities for learning and growth. Students are invited to participate in enrichment programs designed to prepare them for college and career readiness. On November 10, 2020, thirty-four freshmen and seventeen sophomores were inducted into the St. Brigid Society in a virtual ceremony.

The ceremony began with the Prayer of St. Brigid, led by Natalia Maglicic'23, and a welcoming address by Ms. Patricia Molloy, IHA president. Ms. Ellen Donoghue'76, St. Brigid Society moderator and guidance counselor, boasted that the students being honored were talented young women, both in and out of the classroom. "Tonight is about honoring a select group of students who consistently shine in all academic areas," she said. "In addition to doing very well in school and performing well on standardized tests, you also show a great deal of promise and will no doubt be the future leaders of Immaculate Heart."

Ms. Donoghue continued on to explain that if St. Brigid, the Patron Saint of Scholars, was in attendance that evening, she would tell the students that as long as they work hard and do their best, they should be proud. "We ask the same of you," she said. "Work hard and do your best—we will be equally proud of you. We have two mottos in the society. The first is 'Knowledge is Power' and the second is 'It's cool to be smart.' Your intellect is a gift to be used throughout your lifetime." Mr. Jason Schlereth, principal, offered congratulatory closing remarks after each student was officially recognized and inducted.

Rho Kappa Virtually Inducts Newest Members

This fall, forty-two new seniors were virtually inducted into IHA's Silent Sentinel Chapter of the Rho Kappa Social Studies Honor Society.

On October 19, 20, and 21, 2020, IHA held induction ceremonies for the Silent Sentinel Chapter of the Rho Kappa Social Studies Honor Society. Rho Kappa made history as the first IHA honor society to hold a virtual induction ceremony in May as they inducted seniors from the Class of 2020. This October, they welcomed forty-two seniors from the Class of 2021 into the society.

IHA's Rho Kappa executive board members, Isabella Estevez'21, president;

Claire O'Byrne'21, vice president; Emmersen Dabal'21, communication officer; Katherine Conway'21, communication officer; and Emma Viggiano'21, treasurer; and faculty moderators, Ms. Linda Chelotti'76, social studies department chairperson, and Dr. Sue Kenney, social studies teacher, planned the beautiful ceremonies to honor the inductees. One member of the administration joined each night to give remarks following Isabella's leading of the Oath of Induction. Thank you to Miss Kerry Carroll'04, assistant principal for

Virtual Book Club with Mary Beth Keane'95

On the evening of November 5, 2021, thirty-seven IHA alumnae joined a Virtual Book Club Zoom session with IHA author, Mary Beth Keane'95, to discuss her latest novel Ask Again, Yes. After a brief introduction and welcome by director of alumnae engagement, Beth DiCiancia Garrigan'76 P'06, a Q&A took place about the characters, storyline, background information, and details regarding the book.

When asked about her IHA influences, Mary Beth highlighted the late Ms. Marilyn Rich, former English teacher. "Ms. Rich, my junior and senior year English teacher, had an enormous impact on my life," she said. "She taught me how to make an argument, how to support it, how to research properly. But more importantly (to me), she taught great literature, and though she seemed conservative—she was never effusive, and some girls were certainly intimidated by her—the years have shown me that she encouraged us to think whatever we wanted about the literature at hand and to draw our own conclusions. That was a gift."

Thank you to Yolanda Kunz Semelsberger'92 P'20 for the Virtual Book Club idea and to all who attended the inaugural event. We look forward to our next meeting in the upcoming winter months.

IHA Students Honored in National Merit® Scholarship Program

Immaculate Heart Academy is thrilled to announce that one senior was named a National Merit® Semifinalist and eight seniors were named National Merit® Commended Students in the 2021 National Merit® Scholarship Program. Congratulations to IHA's Semifinalist, Katherine Conway'21, and to our Commended Students, Abigail Auty'21, Angelina Casale'21, Katherine Mackey'21, Daniela Makowka'21, Freya Nair'21, Mary Virginia Nye'21, Elizabeth Spizzo'21, and Sarah Zampino'21.

In September 2020, National Merit Scholarship Corporation (NMSC) officials announced the names of approximately sixteen thousand Semifinalists in the 66th annual National Merit® Scholarship Program who earned a national Selection Index qualifying score of at least 220.

These academically talented high school seniors have an opportunity to continue in the competition for some seven thousand six hundred National Merit® Scholarships worth more than $30 million that will be offered next spring. To be considered for a Merit Scholarship® award, Semifinalists must fulfill several requirements to advance to the Finalist level of the competition. More than 90 percent of the Semifinalists are expected to attain Finalist standing, and more than half of the Finalists will win a National Merit® Scholarship, earning the Merit Scholar® title.

More than 1.5 million juniors in about twenty-one thousand high schools entered the 2021 National Merit Scholarship Program by taking the 2019 Preliminary SAT/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (PSAT/NMSQT®), which served as an initial screening of program entrants. The nationwide pool of Semifinalists, representing less than one percent of U.S. high school seniors, includes the highest-scoring entrants in each state. Congratulations to Katherine Conway'21 for earning this prestigious honor.

About thirty-four thousand of the fifty thousand high scorers in each annual National Merit Scholarship® program are named Commended Students based on a national Selection Index qualifying score. This year, that score was 209. Congratulations to our eight outstanding seniors who received official Letters of Commendation!

SCENE | Around IHA

On March 9, 2020, artists in Honors Studio from the Class of 2020 began working on a mural for the IHA gymnasium as their final project. They were to paint two words in IHA's Alma Mater on the gym balcony walls: "Let us go forward with COURAGE to do..." and "Alma mater, O lead us to VICTORY sublime, to victory sublime." In September, National Art Honor Society students picked up their brushes to finish what their sisters started prior to quarantine.

Natalie Deegan'24, Isabella Vaughn'22, and Mackenzie Lennon'24 celebrate Big Sister/Little Sister Day after school on October 6, 2020. This year, sisters celebrated virtually throughout the week with e-cards, e-gift cards, and Zoom sessions. Some were able to meet up safely to exchange gifts!

Bianca D'Costa'21, National Honor Society (NHS) president, and Elizabeth Spizzo'21, NHS vice president, put together the NHS bulletin board in September.

The generosity of IHA never ceases to amaze! Our IHA family donated three hundred seventy gifts through our Christmas Drive to the community members of Sacred Heart School, Jersey City; Youth Consultation Services; and Strengthen Our Sisters Shelter, Wanaque. Similar to many things this year, our collection and deliveries looked a little different. Thank you to Mrs. Sarah Shutrop, director of formation, for leading the charge, and to Mrs. Alice Rogers, assistant principal of students; Ms. Gerri Boland, director of guidance; Mr. Jim Foote P'17, pictured above; and Lauren Foote'17 for all of their help at the contactless drive-up drop-off at IHA.

Geri Tabbachino'21 and Emma Viggiano'21 lead their Rookie Camp group in an outside activity.

Megan Bizub'21, Ellie DePhillips'21, Molly Lowell'21, Isabella Garzon'21, and Kaylee McKay'21 were part of a big group of seniors who dressed up as Mr. Clean for 2020 Halloween at IHA.

DID YOU KNOW THAT...

Dr. Sue Kenney, social studies teacher, recently won the 2020 HREC Educator Award for Holodomor Lesson Plan Development, an international competition for educators. The Holodomor Research and Education Consortium (HREC) panel of judges selected Dr. Kenney's lesson plan, entitled "Imperial Famines: America's Response to the Holodomor," which is from her Genocide and Film course at IHA. "The Holodomor is a genocide that Stalin perpetrated against the Ukrainian people, and it was done by brutality and mass starvation," Dr. Kenney explained. The Holodomor is one of the genocides

IHA students study in the Genocide and Film course. The official HREC Education announcement stated that Dr. Kenney's winning lesson plan for grades 11 and 12, "takes a unique look at how firsthand accounts from survivors raise profound questions about the U.S. response to the Holodomor and invites students to envision alternative responses. The purpose of the lesson is for students to develop a heightened sense of global responsibility in the face of injustice."

Dr. Kenney was awarded $2,000 and her winning lesson plan was posted on the HREC Education website.

Emmersen Dabal '21 was pictured on the homepage of nytimes.com on Election Day, November 3, 2020, while working with the election team at Bergen Community College. In the featured photo taken by Bryan Anselm, Emmersen is double-checking opened envelopes for any missed ballots. On other days, she had the job of separating the local and presidential mailing ballots into piles for officials to run through the scanner.

"I initially got involved through my mother," Emmersen explained. "My mom is the mayor of my hometown of Wallington and, before that, she was a councilwoman. I love watching her tireless involvement in our community year after year. This is what ultimately led to my interest in working with the election team at Bergen Community College. I wanted to help in any way that I could for this presidential election."

Mrs. Lisa Encke P'20, director of the arts, was recently named a recipient of the 2020 National Art Honor Society Award by the executive board of the Art Educators of New Jersey (AENJ). This award was established to recognize the dedication of an AENJ member who sponsors an outstanding NAHS Chapter. Mrs. Encke received the award on Saturday, October 24, 2020 at the AENJ Annual Conference held via Zoom, and was featured in Artbeat, the official AENJ publication. The feature in Artbeat read, "Lisa is a graduate of Parsons School of Design, and has an MSED in Visual Arts Administration from the Bank Street College of Education in New York. She is a member of both AENJ and NAEA. Not only has Lisa been an educator for over thirty years, she is also an accomplished artist and has participated in a long list of shows and exhibits in New York and

New Jersey. She's a wonderful example of excellence to the students in her Immaculate Heart Academy NAHS chapter, demonstrating commitment, skill and leadership on a daily basis. Lisa has expressed gratitude to work in a community that is rooted in tradition while also having a vision for the future. She says, 'As an art educator, it is my goal to reflect the national standards and teach our students to respect others, start a dialogue, experiment, observe, find their voice, self-evaluate, clean up, reflect on their work, embrace diversity, persevere, appreciate beauty, break away from stereotypes, envision solutions, value aesthetics, see another point of view, and innovate. These skills will translate well into all aspects of their lives. I am fortunate to work in an environment that supports these goals.'"

“I suggest CAP to anyone who has interest in any branch of the military,” she continued, “as it gives structure, leadership, and shapes you into a better person overall.”

As an active member in the Civil Air Patrol (CAP) Teaneck Composite Squadron, United States Air Force Auxiliary, Gianna Niece '21 was recently permitted to fly a plane. CAP has three missions: Aerospace Education, Cadet Programs, and Emergency Services. As part of Aerospace Education, cadets are allowed to pilot five powered and five not powered flights. Cadet Master Sergeant Niece, instructed by a pilot, flew for the first time in October 2020. Also through CAP, she attended Civil Air Patrol Basic Encampment in the summer of 2019 and was given the opportunity to work at the Atlantic City Air Show. Every week, Gianna leads cadets in Drill and teaches and presents to them in the classroom, both in-person and on Google hangouts. CAP embodies the four core values of Integrity, Volunteer Service, Excellence, and Respect. “In the program, we break each one down and give simpler/relevant examples of how to use those and incorporate them into everyday life,” Gianna explained. The CAP program is for young men and women ages 12-21; Gianna joined in April 2019 when she was 16 years old. She first learned about CAP through her brother, Joseph (BC'15), who was in the program and is now an Officer in the United States Army. “Because my brother is in the Army, I was curious what it was like to be in the military,” she said. “CAP gives younger students a great introduction and a taste of what it would be like, especially for those interested in joining the Air Force,” she explained. “I loved it from the minute I started. My only regret is I wish I joined earlier.” Gianna is considering applying for an Army ROTC program in college and she recently applied for the ROTC national scholarship. “I suggest CAP to anyone who has interest in any branch of the military,” she continued, “as it gives structure, leadership, and shapes you into a better person overall. I would love to talk to anyone who has questions about the program; feel free to email me at 21nieceg@ihanj.com.”

Lauren Grae '23 recently received Honorable Mention for her oil painting “Changing Lights” in the New Jersey State Bar Foundation (NJSBF) Ninth Annual Art Show. The statewide contest is for those with law-related jobs, and Lauren’s part time work as a paralegal for her dad’s firm qualified her. She was the only minor in the show; all of the other artists were adults. A virtual reception was held for the honorees on November 4 and Lauren’s piece was displayed in a virtual gallery with all of the other artwork.

Forty-nine students in the classes of 2020 and 2021 earned the designation of AP® Scholar by the College Board in recognition of their exceptional achievement on the 2020 AP® Exams. Alumnae Authors

The Alumnae Authors section of our newsletter endures, as IHA graduates continue to blow us away with their talented writing. In this issue, we highlight three alumnae published authors—one who wrote a children’s book, one who writes romance novels, and another whose first book can be found in the Hlstory/Biographies section. Please contact us if you are an alumna author so we can feature you in an upcoming newsletter!

Lisa Marie Domingo Kropilak '99 recently wrote and published her first children’s book titled Hello Washcloth. The book was inspired by her identical twin boys, Jack and Andrew, who she said “love the bath but never seem to get the washing part done!” Hello Washcloth is an adorable introduction to the sequence of bathing, demonstrated by the cutest character and the washcloth. With playful rhymes, new vocabulary, and an educational page that labels parts of the body, this book is a fundamental part of helping children learn and remember what to do when it’s bathing time.

After she was furloughed from her travel agency job in early 2020 due to COVID-19, Lisa quickly realized she was fortunate to be able to fully support her boys with homeschooling and she decided she didn’t want to take her precious time for granted. “This extra time taught me to be genuinely ‘in the moment,’ and freed my mind, revealing a world of creativity,” she explained. “The end result was that I was able to accomplish something I have always wanted to do—write a children’s book! Lisa said teaching her sons to wash independently was quite the task. “One day, my son Jack was talking to his washcloth and telling it what to do,” she remembered. “I thought it was adorable. That was the beginning of Hello Washcloth and my writing journey began. My hope is that this book becomes a fundamental part of helping all children take on the task of washing independently as well as a teaching tool for parents. To check out Hello Washcloth for your little ones, especially children six years old and younger, visit www.amazon.com.

Candace Meier McCarthy '73 is an avid reader who liked to write poetry, song lyrics, and an occasional story when she was a child. She moved to Delaware with her husband, Kevin, as a young newlywed more than forty-five years ago. It wasn’t until a few years later, after her son was two that she decided to write a book. After reading a romance novel that made her burst out laughing, she thought, “How wonderful to be able to do this for others!” She grabbed a pen and notebook and started to write. Later, she typed up what she wrote on an old manual typewriter. “There is something wonderful in allowing a reader to escape into a happily-ever-after story for a while.”

Candace has written and published more than thirty books, using her own name and a number of pennames. She currently writes Amish romances for Harlequin Books' Love Inspired® line under the name Rebecca Kertz. In January of 2020, her novel, Finding Her Amish Love was released. She also had two rereleases this year in books with other authors. In October of 2020, her Christmas story, Her Amish Christmas Gift was released again with author Carrie Light's Her Amish Holiday Suitor. She will have a new release in 2021, Loving Her Amish Neighbor. Her books come out in paperback in both regular and large print and are also published in e-book format.

Candace said she learns something from every manuscript she writes. "If you want to publish, then write and write and write. There is no secret to publishing except perseverance and hard work." Candace was determined to publish a book even if it took her the next twenty years to do it. It took six years and three full manuscripts before she sold her first book on proposal to Dell Publishing. "Writing is a huge part of who I am," she said. "I don't feel like myself when I'm not writing." A number of her Amish books have made the Publisher Weekly's mass-market bestseller list. She is represented by the Evan Marshall Agency. You can find her free online short story, His Amish Bride, at www.harlequin.com in the Online Reads section under Rebecca Kertz. Visit her on Facebook, Twitter, and Instagram @rebeccakertz and on her website, www.rebeccakertz.com.

Pam Fessler⁷¹ recently wrote and published her first book entitled Carville's Cure: Leprosy, Stigma, and the Fight for Justice (Liveright, July 2020). Pam's book tells the story of the only leprosarium in the continental U.S., where thousands of patients were isolated, often against their will and until they died. "For much of the 20th century, the patients were treated more like inmates than people who were ill. They lost not only their freedom, but their identities and rights, including the right to vote. They were torn away from families and friends or, in many cases, abandoned by them. In reality, leprosy is one of the least contagious diseases there is. The patients were more the victims of stigma, ignorance, and prejudice than they were of a germ. At Carville, the patients eventually banded together and successfully fought to regain their rights, with the help of the Daughters of Charity sisters who cared for them."

Pam wrote this book after her father-in-law revealed a secret he had kept for more than sixty years—his father had leprosy and was taken away by public health officials and brought to a leprosarium in Carville, Louisiana, where he died three years later. Pam's father-in-law, who was fifteen at the time, never saw or spoke to his father again and didn't know where he had been taken. "He knew his father had leprosy, but his mother told him and his siblings never to tell anyone because the stigma was so great and it might ruin the family," Pam explained. "So my father-in-law kept that secret until he was seventy-eight years old. We investigated and discovered where his father had been taken. We then took my father-in-law to visit Carville and I learned that his family was one of thousands with similar stories and that through much of the 20th century, the U.S. government took those with leprosy away from their homes and confined them at the hospital against their will. I decided that this was a story that needed to be told, and this was the genesis of my book."

Pam has been a journalist all her life, so writing and telling stories is what she does. She was an editor on the IHA newspaper and went on to be the editor-in-chief of the newspaper at Douglass College at Rutgers. She then worked as a reporter for The Record in Hackensack before moving to Washington where she was a reporter for Congressional Quarterly magazine and now a correspondent at NPR. "I've always covered mostly government and politics, as well as poverty, but never health or medical issues," she said. "So this story about Carville was completely new to me, and I had to learn a lot about medicine and public health policy."

More information can be found at www.pamfessler.com and Carville's Cure: Leprosy, Stigma, and the Fight for Justice can be purchased at www.amazon.com and anywhere books are sold.

SOCCER

On and off the field, the IHA Soccer program had an incredible season. The Freshman team finished with a record of 4-5, while the J.V. team finished back-to-back undefeated seasons with a 10-0-1 record. At the Varsity level, the team finished second in the league with a 4-2 record. During a grueling out-of-conference schedule, the girls turned it on with notable wins over rivals, Northern Highlands and Ramapo, en route to a final regular season record of 8-4-2. Capping an outstanding run at the end of the season, the varsity soccer athletes won their State Sectional Title against Montclair Kimberley (4-3 in penalty kicks)! Amongst the team accomplishments were several individual accolades at the league, county, state, and regional levels. Alexandra Zitelli'21 was nominated by the United Soccer Coaches with All-American Honors. IHA Varsity Soccer coach, Eric Pfeifer, was also honored by the United Soccer Coaches with the title of New Jersey Private/Parochial Coach of the Year. While navigating the unusual circumstances of 2020, the coaches are incredibly proud of the players in making the most of their season.

IHA Celebrates 60 Years and First Freshman Class

The 2020-2021 school year marks the 60th anniversary of Immaculate Heart Academy. The pioneers of the Class of 1964 actually began their IHA education in Paramus before coming to Township of Washington their sophomore year. IHA was led by Sr. Louise (Ann McConnell Bishop), who employed a relatively small group of faculty and staff in the first years, pictured at right.

Sue Derrick Butler '64, a member of the first graduating class and former IHA faculty member, recalled that her class used four classrooms at Our Lady of Visitation in Paramus their first year and that the teachers changed rooms, not the students. She also remembered that since there were so few students, the bus routes were very long; those bus rides became their main form of socialization.

The strong young women who made up the Class of 1964 instituted many of the traditions we hold dear today at Immaculate Heart Academy; we are most thankful for their ingenuity, foresight, and compassion for their alma mater.

This photo of the members of the first freshman class was taken at Our Lady of the Visitation in Paramus before the Township of Washington campus was opened.

The students didn't have uniforms the first year, and Sue said it was such a treat for her to wear civilian clothes after eight years of wearing uniforms. They moved to Van Emburgh Avenue at the beginning of her sophomore year, but only the left side of the building was finished. The freshmen were on the top floor and the big sister sophomores were on the first floor; the cafeteria was used for Physical Education classes.

"The principal, Sr. Louise, was determined to make ladies out of us and she was strict, but a warm and caring person underneath," Sue said. "I felt that since we were the first graduating class, she thought we were the ones who were shaping the reputation for the school so we had to be good representatives. Looking back now, I admire how she took on the challenge of principal, English teacher, and disciplinarian, among other responsibilities I'll never know about. She was a good role model of a competent female leader. My years at IHA had a profound effect on the person I have become. I am so thankful to my parents for sending me to IHA."

The strong young women who made up the Class of 1964 instituted many of the traditions we hold dear today at Immaculate Heart Academy; we are most thankful for their ingenuity, foresight, and compassion for their alma mater. IHA is proud to be sixty years strong and we look forward to carrying on our traditions for many more years to come!

Planned Giving – Help Keep IHA's Traditions Alive

The Immaculate Heart Academy 1960 Society was created to honor the spirit that has nurtured and sustained IHA for the past sixty years. It recognizes those individuals who have thoughtfully included a gift to IHA in their estate plans through a will, trust, retirement plan, life insurance policy, or life-income gift such as a charitable gift annuity or charitable remainder trust. Planned gifts create extraordinary opportunities to ensure that resources will be available to support IHA for another sixty years and more, preserving and advancing our traditions and our mission of offering young women a college preparatory education and instilling in them "a sense of responsibility, confidence, justice, peace, and compassion."

While the primary purpose of a planned gift is to help a favorite charity, these gifts also allow individuals to enjoy financial benefits. Donors who choose planned giving can feel secure about the future of their loved ones, maintain control of assets for life, receive substantial tax benefits, and give more than they ever thought possible.

In celebration of our sixtieth year at Immaculate Heart Academy, we ask you to consider joining the many alumnae and friends who have become a part of the 1960 Society and included IHA in their planned giving. For more information, please contact Beth DiCiancia Garrigan'76, director of alumnae engagement, at bgarrigan@ihanj.com.

Rosemary Flannery

has recently gotten back into creating portrait drawings on commission. "I've always loved the study of faces and personalities, and expressing them through my art," she writes. "My artistic training began in my hometown of Bergenfield and continued in New York City. I am a graduate of Columbia University with a B.A. degree in French language and literature. While pursuing a career in media and in the French fashion industry, I took classes part time at the Art Students League. After moving to France in 1989, I was able to embrace my love of art more fully, copying masters' paintings at the Louvre, and studying Renaissance and 18th century techniques at the Atelier St Luc. The beautiful art of da Vinci, Fragonard, and Watteau is a great inspiration to me. Represented for my portrait drawings at the Galerie des Saints-Pères in Paris from 2000 until its closing in 2006, I became the titular portrait artist for the Bar Association of the Marne Valley. I've also had the honor of creating portraits for members of the American Embassy in Paris. I love living in Paris and have worked as a tour guide, specializing in museum and architecture tours. This passion led to the creation of my book, The Angels of Paris, an Architectural tour through the history of Paris. The current health situation and its subsequent lockdown has ironically been a very creative time for me. Concentrating on my work more wholly is a real joy. Although I sometimes create portraits from life, mostly they are done from photos, so I'm happily busy at my easel. A portrait is a gift of love, a work of art passed down through the generations and now, more than ever, people appreciate its timelessness. I work in my Paris studio and each portrait involves a conversation with my clients—by phone or via Zoom—in which we can get to know each other and discuss all the details of format and technique for each portrait." Check out Rosemary's work on her new website, www.portraitsbyrosemary.com.

Elizabeth Keohane-Burbridge writes, "In October 2020, Independent Scholar Meets World: Expanding Academia beyond the Academy, a book I co-edited and contributed to, was published by the University Press of Kansas! In 2013, I started producing Footnoting History, a history podcast with over two hundred episodes and two million downloads. In 2016, I graduated from Fordham University with my doctorate in medieval history. In this book, I am able to address my experience doing both. I am in my fifth year of teaching at Woodward Academy outside Atlanta.

I teach Modern World History, US History, and Multi-Ethnic and Diversity Studies. I also coach our middle school debate team and am the club adviser for WA Eagle Exchange, our school podcast, and the Intersectional Feminist Club.”

’99 Lisa Marie Domingo Kropilak writes, “Twenty-one years later and I still enjoy reading through the IHA newsletters! I wanted to share some great news with the IHA family. First, my family and I made a big decision to move out of New Jersey and start a new adventure in Raleigh, North Carolina. It was a big move but we are enjoying the slower pace and amazing weather. If there are any alumnae in the area, feel free to connect with me! Secondly, I wanted to share that I wrote and published my first children’s book titled Hello Washcloth. It was inspired by my identical twin boys, Jack and Andrew, who love the bath but never seem to get the washing part done!” Read more about Lisa Marie Domingo Kropilak’s Hello Washcloth in our Alumnae Authors section on page 32. “I also wanted to take this opportunity to acknowledge all of the brilliant IHA authors out there. I have always wanted to write a children’s book and you have all been so inspiring. If there are any aspiring writers out there, go for it!”

Gina Nikola writes, “Hello Sisters! I had the pleasure of connecting with so many of you during our Sisterhood Cycling event this year where we raised $1,400 for IHA’s Day of Giving. Since we last saw each other, I have made some exciting career moves. While teaching fitness classes will always be an integral part of my life, real estate has been in my blood since I was a little girl working alongside my father in New York. I am happy to share that I am now a licensed realtor in New York and New Jersey and have just transferred over to our local Keller Williams branch in Woodcliff Lake. My fellow sisters can find me Facebook and Instagram @gina.nikola to ask a question or just say hi! I’m looking forward to connecting with my IHA sisters for the 2021 Day of Giving!”

Stephanie Cruz recently opened a Kumon Math and Reading Center in Mount Pleasant - Laurel Hill, South Carolina.

"As an extensively trained and certified professional instructor, I serve as a mentor who guides children through their work while also providing direction, support, and encouragement. I create an at-home study plan in addition to monitoring classroom assignments, and I emphasize the importance of accurately completing each assignment within a designated time frame. This has helped many of my students increase self-confidence, thus becoming more self-reliant. Like all Kumon Instructors, I have a true passion for education and an earnest desire to help children succeed." After a career in software engineering, a conversation with a family friend prompted Stephanie to look into becoming a Kumon Instructor when she spoke about the hard work but rewarding experience her friend had being an Instructor for so many years. The more she learned about the Kumon Method, the more she saw how much her own values of self-learning, confidence, and interdependence lined up with Kumon's values. She felt it was time to give back to the families in her community through Kumon. "As a former collegiate volleyball player and youth coach, I often found that the most rewarding part of my days involved working with the young athletes. Watching them learn and feel a sense of accomplishment when they overcame obstacles to reach their goals brought a sense of pride for the both of us. Becoming a Kumon Instructor has allowed me to get back to my roots and what's important to me in order to help my students reach their full potential." Taryn Tonelli recently launched a new business called Hello Creatives, an online studio created for connection, community, and creative critical thinking for high school students in the performing arts. "My goal with the studio is two-fold," Taryn explained. "1. To create community and connection. We are experiencing unprecedented times. There is a need for a safe space where teens can unpack the heavy events of the world, express themselves, and think critically. My goal is to create that space for them in an inclusive, artistic environment. 2. To emphasize the value of being a creative being. To be human is to be creative. It's built into our very nature. Whether that creativity is applied long term to a career in business, law, the arts, or science—I am striving to provide the tools to face any challenge with a thoughtful, creative mindset." Krista Kaspar recently became engaged to her high school sweetheart of twelve years, Joseph Calzaretta, Don Bosco Prep Class of 2010. Joe proposed to Krista on a beautiful summer day in August at Laurita Winery in New Jersey. Earlier that week, Krista took the biggest test of her life—the Optometry National Board Exam. After months of rigorous studying, she was looking forward to her first "fun" weekend that did not involve ten plus hours at the library. Joe, being a pharmacist, knows the sacrifices it takes to pass an exam like that, and he made sure to give her a post-test celebration she would never forget! He proposed that weekend and the two celebrated their forever love for one another. Since then, Krista received the news that she passed her Board Exam and is well on her way to becoming a doctor!

Her research project was called "Observing Black Holes with the Event Horizon Telescope (EHT)" and involved using imaging techniques to simulate observations of M87 in order to examine the effects of how adding satellites to the EHT improves resolution and image quality. This research is a crucial selling point in the possibility of adding satellites to the EHT in the future to obtain clearer images of black holes, an important component to test our current scientific theories about the Universe. Catherine will present her research at the 237th American Astronomical Society (AAS) meeting in 2021.

The race was unfortunately cancelled due to COVID-19, but the Peko sisters were still able to raise $13,195 to benefit the Children's Cancer Institute at Hackensack Meridian Health, where Gabrielle used to be a patient. At five months old, Gabrielle was diagnosed with acute lymphoblastic leukemia. "Due to the support my family and I received from the Children's Cancer Institute, I am now a happy and healthy 18-year-old girl, and I want to pay it forward," she wrote on her TKC fundraising page. "I am running to support every survivor and patient, and to show that you can achieve anything you set your mind to, even if that's a half marathon! This is only one step on my journey in the battle against cancer. I plan to continue my academic career in the field of medicine, ultimately helping cancer patients as a physician." Both Gabrielle and Gianna hope to run in 2021 and will continue to raise funds for Tackle Kids Cancer.
